'Vandekerckhove occupies a unique place in contemporary painting. Free of any tendency towards extravagance, he creates – in a purely pictorial way and with an unusual palette – a whole world of his own consisting of invented landscapes and scarce figures. Seekers, exiles, pilgrims. They stare in front of them, wrapped up in their own thoughts, frozen in longing and melancholy, yearning for paradise. Behind the deceptive simplicity of the scenes lurks the elusive, the mysterious and the miraculous'

Dieter Roelstraete, art philosopher, in 'My head is my only home', Ludion, 2007 (ISBN 978 90 5544 666 7)
